

- Slack Connect for Channels

When you need to work as a group, you can use a Slack channel to host up to 250 organizations. Following are the key information to get started :

- To work in channels together, each organization must be using a paid Slack subscription.
- Like other channels in Slack, people can join the channel or be added to it by someone else from their organization.
- People from different organizations working together in channels can send each other DMs. To work in a group DM, everyone in the conversation must be in at least one channel together.

Steps to get Started :

- Click on the dropdown button next to Channels in your sidebar, select Create => Create channel
- Setup the channel name and select the necessary visibility and click on create
- Follow the prompt to share the channel outside your workspace. Send your partner an email invitation right from Slack.
- When your partner clicks on the link, they'll be taken back to Slack, where they can accept the invitation and set up the channel on their end.
- Depending on your settings, the invitation may be sent to your workspace admin for approval and once it is approved , you are good to go.

- Slack Connect for Direct Message

Who can use this features :

- By default, all members (but not guests)
- Each organization must be using a paid Slack subscription.
- Slack Connect to start a direct message (DM) with someone at another company. To start a DM conversation, an invitation must be sent and accepted. Self or the person that you invite can end a conversation at any time.

- Send an Invitation :

- Click Slack Connect at the top of your sidebar. If you don't see this option, click on More to find it.
- Click Start a conversation in the top right and select Start a DM from the drop-down menu.

- Enter the email address for the person that you'd like to invite.
- Click Send invitation.

- Revoke an Invitation :

- Click Slack Connect at the top of your sidebar. If you don't see this option, click on More to find it.
- Click View invitations.
- Hover over an invitation and click the revoke icon.
- Select Revoke to confirm.

- Accept an Invitation :

- Click Slack Connect at the top of your sidebar. If you don't see this option, click on More to find it.
- Click on Accept next to the invitation.
- Review the invitation details to make sure that you recognise the sender's email address and other info. When you're ready, click on Accept invitation.
- For more information, please visit following weblink : <https://slack.com/intl/en-in/help/articles/1500001422062-Use-Slack-Connect-to-start-a-DM-with-someone-at-another-company>.